

Introduction to the African Labour Law Society

During the World Labour Law Congress of the International Society for Labour and Security Law (ISLSSL) in September 2015 concerns were expressed as to the absence of a wider African voice. After an inaugural workshop in July 2016, and with the backing of the International Labour Organisation, some South African law firms and other organisations, the African Labour Society was started in early 2017. The Society now has 284 members from 24 different African countries.

The Society is affiliated to the ISLSSL which is situated in Geneva and that is supported by the International Labour Organisation. The ALLS resolved that the idea of a wider voice of African Labour Law practitioners and scholars should be taken forward.

The Constitution of the Society was finalised at the 2nd AGM in September 2018 , and can be found on the website.
