

My name is Cindrellah Dhlamini, a vibrant, dedicated, proactive, hardworking young lady from Zimbabwe. I completed my LLBS (Hons) with the University of South Africa in September 2021, where I graduated in record time with 14 distinctions. In Law School, I found a sublime appreciation for the law through clinical programs, drafting, legal writing and research. My zeal for the law is ever-growing as I am currently undertaking studies at the University of Zimbabwe in Post-Graduate Degree in Procedural Law with the trajectory of getting registered as a Legal Practitioner in 2024. I have my certification with the Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists (ACAMS) having participated in courses focusing on Fighting Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking. I have taken an acute interest in the work of the African Labour Law Society, a platform that endeavours to transform and influence the development of Labour Law and its policies. This is crucial work as it encourages collaboration, spreads awareness and the advancement of the profession within the continent. I am elated to be joining an organization offering challenging, rewarding opportunities and the future advancement of my legal career.